“Encourage Each Other”

“So continue encouraging each other and building each other up, just like you are doing already.” 1 Thessalonians 5:11 (CEB)

We have read the verse above several times in the last few weeks as a reminder that during this time of many people being shut in or quarantined that we should be intentional in reaching out to others and offering some encouragement. It is also important to give encouragement to others that we encounter by chance in our daily lives and work.

What is the source of this encouragement that we are supposed to be handing out? What if our own problems have multiplied and we don't feel encouraged ourselves? Our source of encouragement is our unshakable faith that God is at work all around us even when we can't see it. We talked about the story of Esther last Sunday. This is the only book in the Bible that God is not mentioned, and yet we see him working to bring about redemption for his people. If you have forgotten the story, you may want to read this story of intrigue, sabotage, fear, courage, romance, and rising to one's destiny. “The story of Esther is a chronicled struggle between good and evil, where the hidden hand of God isn't seen but is at work on behalf of His people. The story of Esther is ultimately about God working all things together for the good. We realize that when we cannot see the providential hand of God, we must trust the heart of God. Realizing the goodness of the Father stirs us to rejoice.” This quotation is from Kathie Lee Gifford's book titled, The Rock, the Road, and the Rabbi.

Esther reminds us that God raises up the most unexpected people to protect and propel His plan for the ages and His plan of redemption. That is the message of Esther (and the whole Bible) that God is not absent even in the moments where He seems absent. We can depend on this truth in our own lives thousands of years later. Whatever is going on in our lives, we can still encourage others because of our deep faith that God is at work and that God has not forgotten us. We can trust the heart of God as it is revealed in the Bible and in Jesus' life even when we can't see the hand of God working.

This month we are continuing our study of Acts. We will meet Barnabas who encouraged a new convert to Christianity, Paul. Barnabas was known in the early church as an encourager. We can learn from his life and his faith in action.

Join us each Sunday in September as we worship, study the scripture, fellowship with each other, and encourage each other.

Quote by Corrie ten Boom

“If you look at the world,
You'll be distressed.
If you look within,
You'll be depressed.
But if you look at Christ,
You'll be at rest.”

Corrie ten Boom and her family helped Jews in Holland to escape the Nazi Holocaust. She was arrested and sent to a concentration camp and survived to write several books about her experiences. Her relationship with Jesus is honest and inspiring. I have one of her books (Tramp for the Lord) in my office if you would like to borrow it.

– Nancy Wadman

The Church Office will be closed on Monday, September 7, for Labor Day.
